

Spring 2017 JST 3751 Literature of the Holocaust

There is no more powerful expression of the tragedy experienced by the Jews of Europe during the Nazi era than the literature of those who experienced it firsthand. This eye-opening course will forever change the way you think about what transpired during those dark days. Beyond just the texts, these authors bear witness to what happened then, and what we all hope will never happen again!

This fully online course involves a study of the traumatic experience of the Holocaust in Europe as depicted in contemporary Jewish and Hebrew literature (in translation). Authors to be studied include: Elie Wiesel, Aharon Appelfeld, Ka'Tzetnik, H. Bartov, and J. Kosinski.

Taught by Dr. Moshe Pelli:
